

STELLA MCCARTNEY

SUMMER 2010

Effortless and understated, yet bold, today's woman is confident to simply be herself.

Soft waves meet sharp masculine tailoring in structured crisp shantung silk. Clean jackets without lapels combined with high waisted wrap trousers and plunging lace necklines. Desert golds, crisp whites, khakis and burnt tones.

Wisteria print sun dresses accessorized with an oversized clutch in rubberised cotton. Satin silk crepe blouses, belted into denim skirts worn with strappy "Linda" low wedges with a natural cork sole, inspired by my mum.

Knitwear is light and effortless. Button back dress in degrade stonewashed cotton and an oversized playsuit with open rib in stretch matt yarn.

Evening captures the energy and freedom of summer in an optimistic way. Hand painted roses in vibrant colours are boldly printed onto pleats and ruffle edges creating circular weightless volume on dresses and blouses. Blazer red, hot pink, sunset orange. Head to toe royal blue suit with geometric spiral detail.

Strappy sandals with a sporty edge in nude colors. Oversized floating degrade lens sunglasses. Pearl details in jewelry, wooden cage bags and pearlised colored clutches.
